Against the Wind by Lynette Oates

$21

INCLUDES POSTAGE

Delve deeper into the early days of Bible translation among Australian Indigenous communities with this treasured book of real life stories. Discover more about the 60-year history of what began as the Australian Aborigines Branch of SIL (AAB-SIL), now known as the Australian Society for Indigenous Languages (AuSIL).

Author Lynette Oates and her husband Bill, (now both deceased) were foundational members of the Australian Institute of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Studies (AIATSIS) and of Wycliffe Bible Translators Australia. With degrees in arts, anthropology and linguistics, Lynette enjoyed a lifetime of involvement with Wycliffe Bible Translators Australia and the Summer Institute of Linguistics—initially as a field worker and later as a Board member. She has authored numerous Pacific region grammar and language studies and has also written Hidden People and Not in the Common Mould (stories about Bible translation).

Rev Tim Costello gives a wonderful foreword to the book, saying:

Reading Lynette Oates' history of Wycliffe and SIL has dramatically deepened my appreciation for the diversity of God's gift of language that shapes and defines culture.

Please note that there may be a delay with delivery times due to lockdown.

NEW MEMBERS

Philip Townsend

Philip is the Director of the Australia Timor Group (ATG) for the Pacific Area of SIL International. The ATG supports communities as they use their languages in oral, written, digital and artistic forms. This happens through linguistic research; translation of educational, health and religious materials; training of local people; as well as production of resources.

Philip has four main responsibilities: spiritual wellbeing of ATG members, liaison with partners and stakeholders, organisational capacity and strategy. He is convinced that if the Bible is accessible in a group's own language then those people are more likely to clearly hear God's voice.

Over many years, Philip had extensive cross-cultural experience in remote, bilingual contexts. He lived and worked alongside Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as well as with Melanesian peoples in Papua New Guinea. Philip and his wife, Lesli, are now based in Adelaide. Their four adult children grew up in Papua New Guinea.

Carlo Zancaro

Carlo graduated from university in 2012 with a degree in computer science. Since then he's worked as a software developer, with a brief hiatus to do a ministry apprenticeship. He is now putting his love for people alongside his love of computers, and is working to create software to aid the work of Bible translation through project management. Carlo lives in western Sydney with his wife Alison and their young son, Felix.
